How did the Buddha meditate? Why do a solitary retreat?

At Windhorse Publications we produce life-changing Buddhist books for all levels, from the beginner to the experienced practitioner. You can help us to publish more of these books by sponsoring them. Giving £30 or more to an individual book means you will receive the print and the eBook editions on publication.

Help us by sponsoring these two new books today:

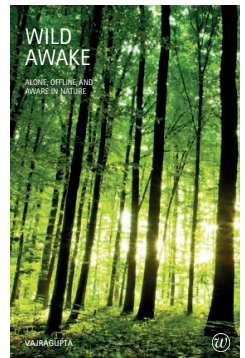

A Meditator's Life of the Buddha: based on the early discourses – by Anālayo To be released Winter 2017

Anālayo offers an inspiring biography of the Buddha based on the early discourses and focusing on his meditative development and practice. By focusing on the Buddha as a meditator, Anālayo seeks to provide inspiration and guidance to all meditators, of any tradition and of any level of experience. Each of the twenty-four chapters concludes with suggestions to support meditative practice.

Wild Awake: alone, offline and aware in nature – by Vajragupta
To be released Spring 2018

What is it like to be completely alone, attempting to face your experience with only nature for company? Buddhist teacher and author, Vajragupta, has been doing just that every year for twenty-five years. Here he recounts how these 'solitary retreats' have changed him, how he fell in love with the places he stayed in and the creatures there. He reflects on how the outer world and his inner world began to speak more deeply to each other, and how there were moments when the barrier between them seemed to dissolve away. Also includes an 'A-to-Z' guide of how to do your own solitary retreat.

Our fundraising target for each book is £4,000. With your help, we can publish these insightful new books and bring more life-changing Buddhist teachings into the world.
